PAPARAZZI: SECURITY FOR CELEBS

Paparazzi problems for celebrities... never seems to go away here in LA....

L.A. Police Chief William Bratton said last summer; L.A. has had fewer problems with paparazzi since Britney Spears "started wearing clothes" and other celebrities changed their partying ways.

"If you notice, since Britney started wearing clothes and behaving; Paris is out of town not bothering anybody anymore, thank God, and evidently, Lindsay Lohan has gone gay, we don't seem to have much of an issue".

Bratton pushed aside calls for new laws to crack down on paparazzi as an unnecessary "farce" because photographers have been losing interest in getting stars in trouble. I don't agree with that at all...as a member of the media - we are just as "on a story" of a celeb in trouble as we ever were.

I sat down with Moti Shapira - former Israeli intelligence officer and now head of a private security firm here in LA to discuss the celebrity madness.
